

Important Information to All Parents
Planned Partial Re-opening of Schools
Update 1

Dear Parents and Carers,

Return to St. John's CofE Primary School - June 2020, Phase 1 Plan (Version 2)

Following on from my previous letter I am now writing to update you all on the latest plans. I can confirm that school will now be opening to Y1 pupils on Monday 15th June. I have personally called all of the parents who had indicated they would like their child to return to inform them of this change.

This means that any planned opening for Y6 and Reception has also been pushed back. However, I will communicate directly with parents of those children planning to return.

This decision was made in-line with a recommendation from Durham County Council. The reasons are explained in their 'Press Release'

Durham County Council has provided the information after new scientific advice was published on Friday 22 May and due to concerns that key issues outside of its control have not yet been resolved.

The advice from the government's Scientific Advisory Group for Emergencies (SAGE), states there is 'a consensus that evidence on the role of children in transmission of COVID-19 is unclear with a number of gaps in understanding'. It also says there is some evidence to suggest that children are as susceptible to COVID-19 as adults but advised that is not conclusive. Scientists have also advised government that the messaging to parents and teachers had to be 'robust' in order to 'enhance confidence and willingness to return.'

The council has also acted in response to data which shows the North East having the highest coronavirus infection rate in the country.

Its action is also in response to delays implementing the national Test and Trace system – seen as vital in managing children returning to school. The system will not be fully operational by 1 June, the date previously announced by ministers as when the phased reopening should begin.

The information the council has provided to schools advises that 15 June, the date the government has put forward for secondary pupils to return, is a more realistic date for the phased reopening to begin.

Cllr Olwyn Gunn, the council's Cabinet member for children and young people's services, said: "Our priority has always been the safety of staff, children and communities and we have issued extensive advice and guidance to headteachers and governing bodies with the emphasis on reopening only when risk assessments have been carried out and found to be of a high enough standard.

"We have at no point stated schools should return on 1 June. And in the light of the new scientific advice, high infection rates and the unacceptable delays in implementing Contact Tracing, we believe 15 June is a more realistic timeline for all schools to work towards, subject to government scientific advice and individual school risk assessments.

"Ultimately it remains a decision for schools to open when they feel it is safe to do so and I would like to place on record our sincere thanks to all headteachers and staff for the tremendous work they are doing to this end."

We continue to appreciate your patience and support.
